
ABB TECHNOLOGY VENTURES (ATV)

Profile

Malin Carlström
Investment Director, SynerLeap
SVP, Northern Europe Investments, ABB Technology Ventures

Background/Biography

Malin Carlström is Senior Vice President at ABB Technology Ventures (ATV) and is based in Stockholm, Sweden. Malin covers Northern Europe and scouts for investment opportunities in companies that are relevant to all of ABB's industry segments. Before joining ABB in December 2017, Malin has spent thirteen consecutive years as an investor in the Nordic Venture Capital market. Her segments of focus have ranged from hardware and cleantech to fintech, legaltech and edtech, including companies such as Tail-F solutions (multi-vendor network service orchestration solutions; acquired by Cisco for USD 175 in 2014), Mobile Payment Solutions (mobile payment technology; acquired by Nordic Capital in 2014), Fishbrain (world leading market community) and Soundrap (online audio recording studio; acquired by Spotify in 2017). Additionally, Malin is an active advisor and board member of a handful of startups in the Stockholm region.

Malin holds degrees from Chalmers University of Technology (MSc Mechanical Engineering – Energy Technology) and University of Kent (Master of Business Administration) and has completed executive education in Corporate Finance at Stockholm School of Economics.

- Location: Wilton, Connecticut, USA